Reg. No. | | | | | | | | | | [13EG26]

SECOND SEMESTER B.TECH EXAMINATION, JUNE - 2014

ENGLISH

Time: 3 Hours Maximum Marks:70

---

1. Write synonyms for the following words: (answer any four) 1x4=4

a. Apposite

b. Beatific

c. Fiscal

d. Vassal

e. Physic

2. Answer the following as per the instructions: (answer any seven) 2x7=14

a. Fill in the blanks with suitable words:

i. The Splendour of the Himalayas _____.

a. Beggars description b. needs no description

c. is so charming d. inspires awe

ii. Every candidate has to poll a minimum number of votes in order to avoid ___ of his security.

a. penalty b. cancellation c. forefeiture d. loss

b. Change the following sentences to indirect speech:

i. Kamala said "I am very busy now".

ii. Subhash said "I have a cap on my head".

c. i. Write a simple sentences each for the set of words given below:

a. Antique; Antic b. Prescribe; proscribe

ii. Write antonyms for the following:

a. Lax b. Acrimony

d. Change the following complex sentences into compound sentences:

i. While he was climbing up the stairs, he fell down.

ii. Although he had knowledge, he could not earn money.

e. Correct the following sentences:

i. The temple is standing in the heart of the city.

ii. The book is containing good subject matter.

f. Make the sentences using present continuous tense with suitable forms of verbs given in the brackets:

i. What you _____ at present? I _____ a poem. (read,read)

ii. I can't hear what you _____, the neighbours _____ too much noise. (say, make)

g. Combine the simple sentences to form a complex sentence:

i. Nehru died. Lal Bahadur Shastry becam e the Prime Minister.

ii. This is the letter. It was truthful. He praised me for it.

h. Change the following sentences from active to passive voice:

i. You must endure what you cannot cure.

ii. The rules forbid the passengers from crossing the railway line.

i. Identify the parts of speech and write one simple sentence for the following words:

i. Bliss; Bless

ii. Loss; Lose

j. Complete the sentences with suitable alternatives:

i. Can, Could

i. He told me that he _____ English fluently and was very happy.

ii. Would, used to, Be used to

ii. Deepu _____ go to college daily by bus in his college days.

3. Summarize the following passage. (word limit not exceeding 250 words) 4

"India Bol Raha Hai". Correct cell phone has arrived in India. Every age has its own life style. The advent of 21st century is the age of mobile phenomenon. Television in the 90's of the last century revolutionized the world of entertainment and domestic life. Summer or winter, watching soaps in the evenings became a ritual. Evening prayers by the elderly, dinners evening call-ons had to be adjusted with the timing of one's favourite serials. Family gatherings became imperative for watching movies and weekly Geet Mala.

Today, it is the mobile, a tiny machine. A few years ago one could not think of being too near despite the distance of countless miles. Cell phones has proved a boon for maintaining one's personal and social connectivity every minute. It has added to the mobility of Indian Masses. One can talk into it the whole day's happenings. Above all, we feel a strange sense of freedom from babus and linemen who had to be called, requested and grarified till our contact on stationary sets with the world was restored. Today, we have hassle free connectivity. Cell phone is more than a phone today. There is hardly any activity that cannot be handled by this small magic box. Sending money to overseas has become as easy as drawing money through ATM. Infact, the tiny machine is a combination of phone, camera, radio and internet. No wonder then tomorrow we may come upon a handset that can even telecast programmes. Letter writing has lost its charm and sending SMS is easier and faster. It does not impose any restraint for selection of words. "Hinglish" is both at its best and worst. "SMS ing" is the youngster favourite. No grammar, no syntax, no formal addresses. It just does not end here. Most of the information can be displayed. Telemarketing is a new phenomeneon in the world of marketing and advertisement. Travellers can call for help wherever they are stranded. Parents are providing cell phones to children out of safety concerns. Sensing danger they can press the key unobserved. In solving certain cases, cell phone has done wonders in the area of crime. At times, it is our life – line.

Is our pre occupation with cell phones going to contribute to the quality of time we pass? What is more, cell phones pose a great threat to health, especially mental health. Hence, it is for us to decide to make good use of the gadget. The invention must result a boon, not a bane.

Give a suitable title to this paragraph.

4. Write a paragraph based on the picture. (word limit not exceeding 250 words). 4

"If it's any consolation, he slipped away peacefully."

5. Read the following passage and make notes using Mind Mapping Method: 4

"Holiday Culture in India"

It is unimaginable that any country can afford two hundred days of holiday period for government sector employees. If it is so, the country is doomed. The administration of the country will remain paralysed for 200 days. In other words, a government servant or an employee in the public sector undertakings works only for about 165 days on overage, a year. No employee of any other country in the world avails himself of about 200 days of holiday. In India, the working hours of a day are also fewer in numbers in comparison to other countries. The break-up of holidays consist of 104 holidays on Saturdays and Sundays, 20 medical leave, 30 days of earned leaves, 8 casual leaved and other kinds of leaves which comes to about 201 holidays in a year. There are instances when offices remain closed for days together. Even hospitals and essential services are affected by this holiday culture. The main reason is said to be - the diversity of Indian culture, religious holidays on account of different religious occasions, birth and death anniversaries of political leaders, cultural festival holidays. Even the death of ministers and political leaders are the occasions for national monenings. There are a number of examples when hospitals, banks and post offices remain closed for days together. Besides, the Government Employees enjoy leaves by playing truant during office hours. The problems of the poor remain unsolved. Moreover, government employees are not inbued with sensitivity to the needs of the others. Any work that takes 3 days in foreign countries to complete requires in India, at least three months. Government employees are apathetic to the needs of the public. Even a man has to remain in custody for days together because of continuous holiday period. Young men and women prefer government jobs, because of sloth and inefficiency. These are the hallmark of government employees today. This factor also gives rise to the practice of bribery. People are prepared to pay anything for getting the work done. So, the facility of holidays to government employees on such a large scale at the cost of Government exchequers should be done away with immediately.

6. a. Read the following passage and make notes using outline method.

"Conquest of Nature"

So often these days, we hear and read of the 'Conquest of Nature', 'the taming of the river', 'the was against insects' and so on. Often these phrases are used without consciously attaching any value to them, but they have an underlined attitude of hostility towards nature and its creatures, a view point which seems to assume nature as an enemy that needs to be ranguished. Alternatively, nature is seen merely as a 'resource to be exploited; regardless of what this does to natural processes and to other creatures which depend on these processes. It is this attitude which sees fellow humans too as a resource to be exploited or other human communities as enemies to be conquered.

There is a growing lack of sensitivity and respect for our fellow creatures. This attitude is being drilled into a child by social forces, which can only be countered by environmental education. Yet, sadly in most cases this is not done. What is done to talk about the food-web and the energy cycles and the ecological balance and how removal of any element disrupts the whole system and how this can affect human beings too. What this approach lacks is the essential interaction with nature and with other humans. Indeed in many environmental activities, the opposite takes place. A child is encouraged to pluck leaves and flowers or run after butterflies with a net and is part of a large group of children, marauding apatch of nature within. Such a child is not likely to develop any strong feeling of respect for nature, or for individual 'specimens' pressed in the file or trapped in a jar. A lot of knowledge may be gained but, it is gained in a value system which emphasizes exploitation and conquest, not sensitivity and respect. Learning under a tree rather than a classroom is indeed the Indian tradition and far more effective and also long lasting.

(or)

b. Write a letter to your friend wishing him or her on their birthday.

7. a. Write a paragraph of about 300 words on "Democratic Form of Government: A boon or a bane to India" 4

(or)

b. Write a story based on the proverb "Character is destiny" or "Man is the architect of his own fate"

8. a. Read the following passage and answer the questions given below. Give a suitable title to the passage: 4

Primitive man was probably more concerned with fire as a source of warmth and as a means of cooking food then a source of light. Before he discovered laborious ways of making fire, he had to preserve it, and whenever he went on a journey he carried a fire brand with him. This discovery that the fire brand, from which the torch may very well have developed, could be used for illumination, was probably incidental to the primary purpose of preserving a flame.

Lamps, too, probably developed by accident. Early man may have had his first conception of a lamp while watching a twig or fibre burning in the molten fat dropped from a roasting carcass. All he had to do was to fashion a vessel to contain fat and float a lighted reed in it. Such lamps, which were made of hallowed stones or sea shells, have persisted in identical form up to quite recent times.

Questions:

1. What were the uses of fire for primitive man?

2. When did early man get his first conception of a lamp?

3. How did early man develop lamp?

4. What was the shape of the vessel?

5. How did he preserve fire?

(or)

b. Write a story based on the conversation given below:

(word limit not exceeding 250 words)

Dolly : Wow, Lilly, the way you handled Stephene was amazing! How did you get so tough?

Lilly : I don't know. I guess growing up with four brothers, probably.

Dolly : Well, I am impressed. But, as you manager, I am not sure how I will react when you ask for a hike!

Lilly : I guess you will give it to me!

9. a. Differentiate between Cornell method and Concept method of note making. Support yours answers with the format and examples. 4

(or)

b. Bring out four differences between skimming method and scanning method of reading. Which is more suitable to you and why?

10. a. What are tenses? List out the three main tenses. State the functions of tenses along with examples. 3

AND

b. Write a brief note on the parts of speech with examples: 3

11. Write a report on any topic of your choice to your college magazine. 6

(words limit not exceeding 200 words)

12. a. Write an essay on the "News Paper" with the help of the following points mentioned here under: (words limit not exceeding 250 words) 6

i. Newspapers gives news about many aspects of life from different parts of the world.

ii. Printed in many languages.

iii. Advertisement are the main source of income.

iv. Many types of news are covered, such as politics, sports, weather forecasts, science, arts exhibitions, commerce etc...

v. Role of printing press.

vi. Transportation.

vii. It can also be called as "The Mirror of the World".

(or)

b. I. Substitute one appropriate word to the following I sentences: ½x6=3

i. One who feeds on human flesh.

ii. One who does not know to read and write.

iii. Too strong to be defeated.

iv. Person who is indifferent to pain and pleasures of life.

v. An act of speaking against religion.

vi. A leader who sways his followers by his oratory.

AND

II Write a sentence each for the following words: ½x6=3

i. Catch up with

ii. Apple – pie order

iii. Brown study

iv. To cry for the moon

v. French leave

vi. Pull one's socks up

13. a. Expand the paragraph given below. Word limit not exceeding 300 words: 6

Self Confidence

Self confidence – key to success. Courage – roof of confidence. Courage and confidence – can be achieved – great things. Many people, talented – not able to achieve – fraction of what - capable of because – not possess courage – attempts made. Great loss to society. Achievement – success follows with courage. – confidence and courage to try – success.

(or)

b. Quality of life

How many lives – matters most – how long one lives. The oak tree lives for three hundred years. Dried up – useless – leaves withered – once green and alive. Beautiful flowers – green leaves – shelter. Make everyone happy – pleasant fragrance. Man lives for one hundred years – how useful – not make proper use – ends his life – short life of man – glorious – crowded - noble service – country and his family – make life worth living.